

INT. HACKER HOSTEL- MORNING

Dinesh and Gilfoyle are sitting at the usual spots. Jared is eating out a grapefruit in front of his laptop, humming.

Suddenly, Richard and Monica emerge out of nowhere. Just passing through the workstation mid-conversation.

MONICA

This shouldn't be that hard, Richard.
No one will judge you.

RICHARD

Really? No one would judge me for picking amputees over cancer?

JARED

Um, pardon?

MONICA

What Jared?

Jared is about to speak but Gilfoyle interrupts.

GILFOYLE

What he's going to ask is why are you being prejudiced against disabilities?

JARED

Well not in those words but yes.

RICHARD

No one is pre-judging anything.

DINESH

I mean it did sound like you implied people with missing limbs contribute more than terminally ill patients.

MONICA

How in the actual hell have you guys heard anything resembling that?

Erlich's voice cuts in before he enters.

ERLICH

(off screen)

Well, I certainly am in the giving spirit to the most looked down upon in our society.

Jian Yang enters along with Erlich who is smile ear to ear as Jian laughs hysterically.

ERLICH (CONT'D)

Me and Jian Yang decided to have a creative session on the medical miracle known as canibus.

JIAN-YANG

(laughing)

No, you decided to have creative session. I just wanted smoke session.

ERLICH

Regardless. We came up with a sound charity based idea.

JIAN-YANG

No. It's your idea. I'm not laughing cause I'm excited. I'm laughing at your idea.

ERLICH

Fuck, Jian-Yang, I don't care this idea is fool proof.

MONICA

What is it?

GILFOYLE

This is going to be extremely sad but funny.

Erlich steps forward with his chest out and a confident smirk.

Jian-Yang's laughs have turned into occasionally chuckles.

ERLICH

Nothing is more sad than a homeless stoner. How can he cure his munchies?

GILFOYLE

Yeah not like the homeless part of life is way worse.

JARED

Um, yes how is having the munchies worse than the starvation the homeless individual experiences daily?

Jian-Yang chuckles turns into a girly giggle.

ERLICH

Don't focus too much on that. Bottom line, we make an app for those in need. A blue apron app for the stoner. Only you don't cook it's just chips and stuff.

GILFOYLE

When did homeless people get cell phones?

BEAT.

DINESH

Also, we can't just send people boxes of random chips. They're already have stuff like that for like 2 bucks at grocery stores.

Jian-Yang's giggles give back way to laughter.

JIAN-YANG

See? Your idea only sounds good to you. We laugh at your idea not with your idea.

ERLICH

Fuck Jian-Yang! That logic is for jokes not ideas.

Erlich begins to walk out.

JIAN-YANG

Your idea is a joke.

Jian-Yang exits, following Erlich .

A door is then heard slammed.

RICHARD

Ironically, that there is kind of our problem.

GILFOYLE

What? That we live in an environment where creativity and marijuana can be mixed?

RICHARD

Well, yeah, but also Monica, here, believes we should choose between disabilities.

DINESH

So are we placing bets on the special Olympics?

MONICA

We've done everything with Pied Piper except put it towards a good cause. A good cause for our brighter vision.

GILFOYLE

Oh, so it doesn't matter which kids go empty during the holidays?

RICHARD

Well, I mean I guess you can say that.

MONICA

No one is going to get their holidays ruined. If anything the holidays will be made better.

RICHARD

Gilfoyle, Dinesh check your email about the project. Jared, come up with ways we can say we love all disabilities.

JARED

Well, we love the children with disabilities not what's crippling them.

RICHARD

No shit.

Richard and Monica exit carrying on the conversation but it's mostly inaudible.

GILFOYLE

Richard should sit this one out. I feel like my lack of compassion can be best suited for this.

DINESH

You give off creepy nerd on edge of homicide with your look. No way. I on the other hand should take the lead.
(MORE)

DINESH (CONT'D)

JARED
I'll agree with Dinesh here. He just looks like a tech guy?

DINESH
Wait, what?

BEAT.

JARED
Huh?

Gilfoyle lets out a chuckle.

DINESH
I just look like a tech guy? Why?

JARED
Well you have a more relatable look to a tech guy.

DINESH
I honestly don't believe you mean to be racist so this stops here.

JARED
Wait, what?

DINESH
Your saying the middle eastern looking guy is the stereotype of tech guys.

JARED
But you are a man who appears to be middle-eastern working in a tech company?

Gilfoyle menacingly smiles.

DINESH
It's the principle of the matter!

JARED
I'm sorry. Let me make it up to you.

Gilfoyle gets up

GILFOYLE

Jared just stop. It's cool we know you're too innocent to keep your racism in check.

Jared is absolutely gobsmacked.

Dinesh looks over Gilfoyle.

DINESH

Why are you taking my side? When I accused Erlich, you did my dirty work but then pissed me off as per usual.
So why should I trust you?

GILFOYLE

Just look at it as you would like the day the Pakistanis and Indians use to show they're actually ok with one another.

DINESH

Why? Because the obvious tension seen on that day is representative of my tight ass attitude? Is that what your saying?

GILFOYLE

No.

Dinesh becomes perplexed.

GILFOYLE (CONT'D)

(cont)

Just look at it as me saying we enjoy your breads.

DINESH

They're the same breads, Gilfoyle.

GILFOYLE

I know.

Gilfoyle exits.

JARED

I'm pretty confident that perhaps I'm slightly prejudiced but not racist.

DINESH

Oh yeah obviously not the same thing.